

Min-Liang Tan: Co-founder and CEO of Razer

Born in Singapore, Min-Liang Tan now lives in California where he oversees the company's global operations spanning offices in the USA, Germany, China, Korea and Singapore.

Min is the creative director for the brand and personally leads out the design and development of all Razer products, which have built a cult following globally for their iconic designs.

He is also responsible for establishing the global business relationships of the company with some of the largest gaming publishers and developers in North America and Europe, many of whom have announced global partnerships and alliances with Razer. Being fluent in Mandarin, Min has also forged deep, personal relationships with the senior management of major Chinese game companies.